SHE DIDN'T LIKE DISPLAY. A Sexta-Millionaire is Divorced from

His Wife.

New Haven has a large scandal to talk over in the Waddingham divorce case. Wilson Waddingham, one of the wealthiest and best-known men in the west, was legally separated from his wife Emma, on complaint of the latter, in the circuit court of Chicago on last Saturday. Mr. Waddingham is reputed to be worth $6,000,000. His rapid accumulation of this wealth and the disposition he showed to spend it royally was the cause of the trouble between him and his Waddingham made his fortune in the Black Hills and in cattle in Colorado. He went to West Haven ten years ago and bought a large tract of land and built a palace costing $700,000. When it was all ready he turned it over to his wife. This seemed wilful extravagance to Mrs.

A conference to consider the federation of the Australian colonies is to meet at Mel-bourne.

THE RECORDER OF DEEDS. What is Thought of Mr. Dawes' Bill to Make the Office a Salaried One.

The bill introduced by Senator Dawes yesterday to make the office of recorder of deeds a present system by which the recorder is paid by fees has been very generally discussed. WHAT THE COMMISSIONERS SAY.

The District Commissioners in speaking of leeds in the District by the bill introduced in the Senate yesterday by Mr. Dawes expressed themselves as generally favoring it.

Mr. Douglass said the plan in its general features was an excellent one, although he hought the salary ($3.000), was rather small for so important an office.

Major Raymond said the matter did not come in his department, but that as far as he was acquainted with Washington there seemed to be a general desire to have some such bill Mr. Hine thought the office should most certainly be a salaried one and the official in charge be obliged to report to the Commissioners monthly, as it would greatly facilitate the record of exchange of property. ME. TROTTER HAS NOTHING TO SAY. Mr. Trotter, the present recorder, politely declined to be interviewed on the subject.

VIEWS OF REAL ESTATE MEN. The real estate brokers are largely interested in the management of the office of recorder of deeds. In talking with a number of brokers this morning a STAR reporter found that they had all read in THE STAR the provisions of Mr. Dawes' bill. All who were seen expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of the

Mr. M. M. Parker said that the propose salary of $3,000 a year to be paid the recorder was ample compensation for performing the duties of that position, which was largely a sinecure. He further thought that it would have the effect of taking the office out of poli-tics. He said that the place ought to be filled by a District man and this provision of the bill especially met with his hearty approval.

Mr. John A. Prescott said that the compensu

tion of the recorder at present was an unknown | for counterfeiting. quantity, but it was supposed to be some large amount. The result was that it had become a political prize. In his opinion this was all wrong. The proposed change would remedy the present evils and would make it possible to fill the place with a competent District man.

Mr. R. O. Holtzman expressed himself as being strongly in favor of the bill. He said that it proposed a much-needed change. While he it proposed a much-needed change. While he was of the opinion that the proposed salary for the recorder was ample he thought that the deputy ought to receive the same salary, as he did nearly all the work. VIEWS OF LAWYERS.

Mr. W. R. Woodward said that the office should be a salaried one, but the salary should sibility.

FOR SALE—AT A GREAT BARGAIN—A. W. & C. Scott & Son, "Premier Grade," Hammerless, Double-barrel Breech Loading Shot Gun; 16 bore, 28-inch. Original cost, $350; now offered at $150; can be seen at M. A. TAl-PAN'S REMINGTON ARMS AGENCY, 1013 Pennsylvania ave. The gun is without a blemish, and only parted with for want of use. 14-1w Judson S. Cull thinks the principle of the bill is all right. The office should be salaried, but the sum named is not high enough. To secure the best service the employes should be salaried. R. L. Wallach endorsed the principle of making it a salaried office, but said the receipts should not all be paid to the District for much was needed for conveniences in the office.

John Ridout said: "The principle is all right, but the salary should be on the bond proposed, €5,000."

Mr. Joseph F. Scaggs: "By all means the office should be salaried and the salary a good one. That proposed is too low, and the receipts should go to completing the record and putting the office in the best possible condition.

W. A. Gordon: "I don't see why the office should not be salaried, but the salary proposed is too low."

M. C. Barnard: "It is a grand scheme to make the office a salaried one, but grander in provid-ing that the appointee should be a District one. The surplus should be spent in the office, how-Violins.

FOR SALE—LARGE SQUARE PIANO, MODERN improvements; $75. Also 100 Pillows and Community that least offer. 513 13th st. n.w. d14-3t ever, rather than be paid to the Commissioners, at least until the office is complete."

The Theaters.

Mr. Sothern has succeeded in collecting together an excellent comedy company, and, grouped around his inimitable rendition of the nonchalant Chumley, the result is brilliant in the extreme. "Lord Chumley" contains lots of good humor and sparkling wit, and, what can be said of few plays has no scopes which dream plays, has no scenes which drag.

HARRIS' BIJOU.—Miss Edith Stanmore commenced what promises to be a most brilliant career as a star at the Bijou last night in Belasco's play "La Belle Russe." It was rather an undertaking for a young star to make her appearance in a play requiring so much as "La Belle Russe" and the success achieved must be very encouraging to the young lady. Gustave Levick and the rest of the company were fully in to the requirements.

LOANS ON COLLATERAL. A Novel Test Case Under the Pawn Brokers' Law.

"Real estate and loans" is the sign indicating the business of Aaron Strauss, who has an office salaried one at $3,000 a year and abolishing the in the Fireman's insurance building. Mr. Strauss has been advertising to loan money on furniture, allowing the furniture to remain in the owner's house. Detective Block made an investigation of Mr. Strauss' business, and the proposed change in the recordership of thinking it came within the provisions of the pawn brokers' law he called on Mr. Strauss and required him to leave $100 collateral as security for his appearance in the Police Court. Persons who wanted to borrow money from him would answer the advertisement of the money lender in the newspapers. They would receive from Mr. Strauss a card notifying them that an agent would call in a few days. The agent would call and appraise the furniture and then half the amount of its value would be loaned if that amount was wanted. The owner would be required to give a chattel mortgage on the furniture. It is claimed that more than the legal rate of interest is charged. In the Police Court today the case was continued for one week. Mr. Henry Wise Garnett will ap-pear for the defendant. The International Marine Conference. The international marine conference yesterday adopted a recommendation that the green and side lights be placed in steam vessels not forward of the masthead light. The report of the committee on life-saving systems and services was adopted. The conference recommended tests for color blindness for seamen; also rules for marking vessels, protection by bulkheads, lanes for steamers on frequented routes and night signals. The conference then adjourned until Wednesday.

Owing to the recent death of the be a good one, commensurate with the respon- bride's mother the wedding was very quiet, and the only invited guests were the family connections on both sides and a few intimate friends. It was, however, an interested and happy group of well-wishers who witnessed the nuptials of the young couple and afterward extended their earnest congratulations. There were no floral decorations in the artistic suite of pariors. None were needed, as the softly shaded lights brought out all the beauties of the elegantly furnished rooms. The bride, who is a graceful, fair-haired young girl, and was to have made her formal entree into society this winter, looked unusually attractive in her bridal robes. Her gown was of heavy white corded silk. The train was long and the front of the skirt was draped with crepe lisse caught with orange blossoms. The bodice was cut away slightly at the throat and prettily trimmed with a garland of the blossoms and crepe lisse. A chaplet of orange blossoms held the tulle veil to her hair. She came down stairs on the arm of her uncle, Mr. John Barclay, of this city, who gave her hand in marriage. Rev. George K. Warner, rector of St. James P. A Young Woman With a Raised Note Cumberland Special to the Baltimore Sun, Dec. 16.

This evening about 8 o'clock a comely young woman, about twenty years of age, visited a number of merchants in this city and bargained for certain goods which she desired to purchase, and at each place offered in payment a note apparently of the denomination of twenty dollars, but which, in reality, was a one dollar bill with the word "twenty" pasted over the word "one." In the center of the bill and on the right over the figure one was also pasted the figure twenty. She was detected in the act of attempting to pass the bill by Deputy Sheriff Anthoney, who had been called by one of the merchants upon whom she had attempted to pass the bill, and caught her in the act in C. G. Smith's shoe store in offering it in payment for a pair of shoes. She was taken to Magistrate Gonder's office, and when asked for her pocketbook handed to the deputy sheriff the $20 bill, and immediately put in her mouth what the sheriff and his deputy thought to be a paper containing poison. note apparently of the denomination of twenty thought to be a paper containing poiso She was at once seized by the officers, wi choked her and made every effort to make h choked her and made every effort to make her open her mouth and give up the paper. This she would not do. When asked the question if she had taken poison she said no. It was the name of a gentleman friend whom she did not care to have known. When asked her name she gave it as Annie Cleminger, saying this was not her right name, but would not give the other. She would not say where she came from, and said she did not know the bill was bad. She had had it for three months, and this was the first time she had tried to pass it. She was committed for a further hearing to-morrow.
